Excerpt: . . . tamen, quando eciam cupit celsitudo tua, adhortaciones nostre. Nec enim quidquam Christiane religionis orthodoxeque fidei cultoribus vehemencius expediendum aut diligencius curandum censemus, quam quod pax hujusmodi atque unio quamprimum et qua optima ratione Fol. 66 a. in ecclesia Dei reformatur. Datum Oxonie in nostre congregacionis domo, sexto et vicesimo die mensis Octobris. Cancellarius et Universitas studii Oxoniensis. The continual increase of your munificence calls forth more and more gratitude and devotion; and when we heard from Master Grey that you intend, with unexampled generosity, to add another gift of books to your former donation; and received his report of your gracious words on this occasion, our hearts were inflamed with reverent affection, and inexpressible joy. Your name was in every mouth; some wondered at your magnificence, some praised your exalted virtues, some your pursuit of learning and your literary talent; and all uttered their prayers for your health, wealth and safety; and indeed that you are but mortal is our bitterest thought. We send to you Masters H. Severe and T. Chace to be our legal representatives in receiving your donation, and to act in all respects as you shall desire therein. If other nations celebrate your fame, how much more should we, who enjoy your presence What praise, what respect, what affection must we not feel You have more than restored the University to its ancient glory; and no lapse of time can ever efface the memory of a prince so enlightened. Serenissimo...
